WEGER WRITES OF ALBERTA COUNTRY

A. P. Weger and wife returned last Friday from a visit to Lyndon, Alberta, Canada. He has handed us the following interesting account of his trip and description of the country, which we gladly publish, it being extremely interesting to anyone who has never made the trip.

My wife and I returned home Friday evening after a three month's visit with my son and family at Lyndon, Alberta. We enjoyed the summer very much. The weather was very pleasant and we had great sport fishing, as the trout were plentiful and from eight to fifteen inches long. This is no fish yarn. I have good proof. We were greatly pleased with the climate there in summer; it couldn't have been better; I was told that it got as cold as 30 or 40 degrees below zero at times in the winter but never stays that cold more than a few days at a time and there are some pleasant days even in the winter.

Most of the people in the hills are engaged in stock raising, and those of the flat or prairie are engaged in raising cereals. The country is being settled very rapidly, towns are springing up and building up very fast. Where Claresholm, a town near where I visited, now stands, only eight years ago not a house was located. Now it is a prosperous town of thirteen hundred inhabitants. J. B. Turner and Elmer Weger are well pleased with that country and doing well. They own a nice ranch in Hills and have some leased of the Government, giving them control of ten thousand acres, on which they are raising horses, cattle, hogs and expect to put sheep soon. Mrs. C. E. Weger and son accompanied us on our way home as far as Benicia. After a short visit there and in San Francisco she will come to Ukiah to visit friends and relatives here.

A. P. Weger.

Cruelty to Animals

At the Fort Bragg minstrel show given by prominent residents of the redwood city last Saturday evening a number of the Republican delegates attended from Mendocino. Among the gags got off was the following:

1st Minstrel—What is cruelty to animals?

2nd Minstrel—Ah don' know. What is cruelty to animals?

1st Minstrel, pointing to Sandelin, Johnson and others who were in the bald-headed row taking in the proceedings with open mouths—Well, there's George Johnson, Frank Sandelin, an' Gene Holbrook, an' Charley Mathews an' all those other politicians came over to Mendocino the other day an' ran into a blin' pig. That's cruelty to animals.

Chorus—Haw! Haw! Haw!

Siskiyou Miner Settles Here

J. W. Williams, of Happy Camp, Siskiyou county, arrived here last week looking for a small ranch, and on Wednesday bought 40 acres of F. O. Scott, the deal being managed by English, Smith & Co.

Mr. Williams is a miner and has been engaged in that business in "Siskiyou the Golden" for the past 24 years. Some time ago E. R. Taylor, of the same county, came here and bought a place in Coyote valley and since that time has been an ardent booster for this section. It was largely through his efforts that Mr. Williams was induced to select Ukiah as his future home.

Democratic Convention

The Democrats of Mendocino county will meet in convention at Ukiah tomorrow morning. The sessions will be held in the Superior court room at the court house and between 50 and 75 delegates are expected to attend. John Lane, of Manchester, is generally spoken of for chairman.

Mrs. Dililng, of Fort Bragg, came over to Ukiah the first of the week and is keeping house for her grand daughter, Miss Ella Gordon, who is attending Mrs. Porterfield's normal school.

H. A. Singley, a prominent wool grower, was over from his ranch near Orr's Springs Wednesday.

SUPERVISORS' PROCEEDINGS

In The Board of Supervisors of Mendocino County State of California.

The Board met as per adjournment at one o'clock, P. M. August 22nd, 1910.

The Canvass of the returns were commenced as prescribed by law.

In the Matter of the Street Work in front of the Court House.

All members of the Board being present, the bid for Asphalt was ordered opened. The bid of Clark & Henry Construction Company was the only bid presented and was for 23½ cents per square foot. Superivsor Smith moved the bid be accepted and the Contract be awarded to Clark & Henry Construction Company. Supervisor Saxon seconded the motion. A roll call was demanded on the question which resulted as follows:

Ayes, Supervisors Smith, Saxon, Gillmore and Lawson.

Noes, Supervisor Brandon Absent none.

The Chairman declared the motion carried and the contract to be awarded as per bid and bond fixed at $500. Contract to be awarded when bond is approved.

In the Matter of a road and bridge across Russian Gulch.

The petition duly and regularly signed and accompanied by the required bond was duly and regularly presented asking for a Road and Bridge across Russian Gulch. The same was ordered accepted by the Board and following viewers were appointed to View out and locate said road and bridge. David Gordon, John Flanagan and George Lammers, Surveyor, to report on same at 11 o'clock Tuesday Sept 6, 1910.

On motion of Supervisor Gillmore, an order was made appointing Elijah Bishop Inspector of Alder Creek Bridge, at a Salary of $3 per day.

An order was also made authorizing Supervisor C. P. Smith to repair the Bailey Creek Bridge at a cost not to exceed $300, to be paid out of County General No. 2, 1909 fund.

The canvass of the returns was not concluded until Thursday.

The following received the nomination for the respective offices:

Fountain Unveiled

The fountain recently donated to the town through the efforts of the W. C. T. U. was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies last Friday evening. Mrs. Pettis made the speech of presenattion and Mayor Carothers accepted on behalf of the town. W. P. Thomas represented the Board of Supervisors in an address of thanks and paid a glowing tribute to womanhood. His remarks were followed by a lecture on the evils of intemperance by Thomas Lawson, of Oakland, a prominent worker along the lines of prohibition. Music was furnished by Keller's band, which kindly donated its services. There was a large crowd in attendance.

Lodged in Jail

John O' Brien and George Nolan were brought over from Fort Bragg by Deputy Constable Johnson last Saturday and lodged in the county jail. The first named will serve a sentence of 30 days and the second one of 90 days for having stolen some jewelry at Fort Bragg. They were tried in Judge Whipple's court.

J. S. Knight was given 90 days by Judge Crockett Tuesday on a misdemeanor charge.

The Weather For August

Dr. McCowen hands in the following weather report for August: Maximum temperature, 110, date 23rd. Minimum temperature, 40, date 19th, 20th, 21st. Mean temperature, 71.59. No. of clear days, 31. Prevailing wind direction, N. W. Greatest daily range of temperature 64 degrees on the 23rd. Average daily range, 53.32.

Loses Three Fingers

H. M. Blore had three of his fingers badly mashed in Coyote valley this week. The injury was so severe that it was deemed best to amputate the members, which was accordingly done.

REPUBLICANS HOLD THEIR CONVENTION

The Mendocino County Republican Convention assembled at Mendocino last Saturday. Contrary to expectations entertained here, the attendance was not very large, there being only about 31 delegates present.

The convention was called to order by Chairman P. I. Lancaster of the county central committee and J. A. Chambers, of Mendocino, and T. A. Lucas, of Ukiah, were elected, president and secretary respectively by acclamation.

The following delegates were chosen to attend the State convention: A. N. Rawles, J. L. McNab, C. H. Goldberg, J. K. Peirsol and Wm. Hanen.

H. F. Milliken of Fort Bragg, was elected chairman and W. O. White, of Ukiah, secretary respectively of the county central committee.

The platform endorsed the Payne-Aldrich tariff; commended the U. S. Senators and Representatives in Congress; approved the administration of Taft, and of Gillett as Governor; declared allegiance to Johnson, Kent, Graves and Held, as the party leaders; approved the work of every county officer now in office and declared for the support of all of them, both Democrats and Republicans; and praised School Superintendent Babcock in the highest terms as follows:

"We congratulate the people of the county on the removal of the school system from politics, as exhibited in the last four years and we hope that the high standard of education set by the present Superintendent of Schools will be maintained by whoever shall be elected by the people to that office. The welfare of our children is a sacred trust, upon the administration of which rests the future of our homes and our citizens."

HUNTING IN THE "HOSS" PASTURE

One of the most successful hunting trips ever pulled off in this County was pulled off by "Political Jim" Connor and N. A. McCallum, who had charge of a Fresno bunch of "birds" and "Bills." Connor and McCallum took the bunch of jolly boys out east of Point Arena for a ten days outing in the old "hoss" pasture and they had a great time. During their stay the boys killed nine dad-burned fine old bucks without ever taking the old muzzle loader from their shoulder, by George! In the Fresno crowd were Geo. Beall, Fred Huntzicker, Fred Stone, Peter Lainas, Mike Foley, Schuber Hess, and W. H. Worswick. They were all "Bills" and were shouting like wild men for Theodore Bell and Senator Cartwright. They had a whopper of a time and came into Point Arena just in time to catch the boat for the city. They came in with one gallus and a sore toe, head up and hair a flying, three sheets in the wind and one ready to float. You could not contemplate them with the naked eye, you had to use smoked glass or leather. They were the only original, iron jawed, brass mounted, copper riveted corpse makers this side of the wilds of Arkansas. Blood was their natural drink and they took 19 alligators and a bushel of rattle snakes for their breakfast every morning and the click of six shooter and the wails of the dying were music to their ears.

They left a little piece of "jerky" with old friends and took to water like a duck on the way to Frisco.

Sells Twin Oak Farm

Charley Clett, for several years past owner of the Twin Oaks farm on the road to the Asylum, disposed of the property this week, the purchaser being T. N. Nobles.

The place comprises about 6 acres and is a nice little home.

Court Reporter Eddy went over to Fort Bragg the first of the week for the purpose of taking testimony in the trial of an Italian who was having a preliminary examination on the charge of murder.

Lon Scott and wife, of Greenwood, came over from their home on the coast yesterday and after a few days' visit here will proceed to San Francisco before returning home.

E. L. MORRISON DIES IN OROVILLE

Died in Oroville, Wednesday, August 24, 1910, E. L. Morrison, a native of California, aged 33 years.

Edward L. Morrison was born in Oregon Gulch, Butte county in 1857 and came to Mendocino in 1873. He was well-known to all the old-timers and a large number of them will hear of his death with the utmost regret. In 1882 he was united in marriage with Miss Ida Armstrong, of Salem, Oregon, and the widow and one son, Ray, survive him. In addition he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Anna M. Reed, of Petaluma, and Mrs. Fred Handy, of Ukiah.

Mrs. Morrson was visiting friends in the northern part of the county when the news came of her husband's sudden death from heart trouble. She immediately left for Oroville and the last sad rites were performed upon her arrival there, the funeral taking place last Sunday.

The many friends of the family in this county join in extending their sincere sympathy to the bereaved family.

Miss Shelton to Wed

Announcement has been made of the engagement to marry of Miss Dorothy Shelton and Emerson Weyl Gould.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Shelton, of Stony Point, Sonoma county. She has resided here for a number of months past and is extremely popular among the younger set, being a pretty, charming and accomplished young lady. The prospective bridegroom is manager of the Paulheim ranch south of town and is a member of a prominent Oakland family. The wedding is set for the 15th of September.

SUN TO APPEAR SEPTEMBER 3RD

A dispatch received by this paper the first of the week states that the San Francisco Sun, a new morning paper, Democratic on State and National affairs, will make its appearance tomorrow, Sept. 3rd. It will be the first morning penny paper on the Pacific coast.

We have had many inquiries from our subscribers as to when the Sun, which was to have commenced publication early last spring, would really start and we are glad at last to be able to give them some definite information.

Writ of Remititur Issued

The State Supreme Court has issued a writ of remititur in the case of the Northwestern Redwood Co. vs. J. D. Dicken. The suit was commenced some time ago in the Superior court of this county.

It seems that Dicken owned a small saw mill near Willits and was selling his lumber to the Northwestern Redwood Co. which in turn was furnishing him wih supplies. Dicken sold his timber and outfit to L. J. Roach and Roach continued furnishing the lumber to the same company which credited it to Dicken and furnished Roach with supplies which it charged to Dicken's account. Roach finally discontinued operations and the company called for a settlement with Dicken. The latter claimed that he was not responsible for Roach's bills as Roach was conducting the business for himself. The company claimed, on the other hand that Roach was acting as Dicken's agent and that Dicken was responsible. The settlement of the controversy hinged on the question as to whether a certain passage in the agreement between Dicken and Roach had been inserted before or after Dicken signed the agreement.

Dicken claimed it had been inserted afterwards. The insertion of the clause if admitted to have been made with Dicken's consent would make Roach simply his agent. The court admitted outside evidence as follows:

Roach had made the assertion that he had bought the property and this was accepted by the court as settling the question of ownership. It was to the admission of this hearsay evidence that the Supreme Court objected and on this ground ordered that evidence stricken out and the case tried again.

AROUND THE COURT HOUSE

Josephine F. Murphy has petitioned for letters of administration on the estate of Wm. Murphy, deceased, and the hearing of the petition has been set for Sep. 12th. The estate is valued at $4,955 and there are two children, besides the widow, who appear as heirs.

Hilma Gardstrom has filed a petition for letters of administration on the estate of Werner Gardstrom, deceased. The estate is valued at $283. There are 8 children, the oldest only 10 years old. The case will be heard Sep. 12th.

Nellie McMartin has brought suit for divorce from J. A. McMartin alleging cruelty. There are three minor children of which she asks custody and $15 a month alimony. She also asks for an injunction preventing the defendant from disposing of certain community property before the settlement of the case.

Mary E. Jenkins has brought suit against Frank Caldwell et al to quiet title to certain land in section 31 of township 22—13; she also asks for an injunction prohibiting the defendants from trespassing on the land.

Jacob Newcomer has brought suit for divorce against Hattie Newcomer, alleging desertion. They were married at Sacramento in 1902 and the alleged desertion occurred in the following year.

Vincenzo Rinaldi has sued Wm. Cameron to recover the amount of $380.90 alleged to be due for goods, merchandise and cash advanced the defendant by plaintiff. He asks for costs.

In the matter of the estate of J. F. Colburn, Cecil Gregor was called, sworn and examined and the will was admitted to probate and Archie Bailey appointed executor without bonds.

The default of the defendant was ordered in the case of Sarah J. Hildreth vs. Munroe Duffy and the case was referred to the court commissioner to take testimony.

The first and final account of the administrator of the estate of Patrick Dempsey was allowed, approved and settled. A decree of distribution was ordered in accordance with the prayer of the petition.

Permission was given to file affidavits in the matter of the estate of H. G. Keene.

John Kinsner was given judgment without costs in his suit against the N. W. P. R. R. Co.

Whited Announces for Auditor

In this issue of the Dispatch appears the announcement of Charles Whited, of Willits, who asks for the election to the office of Auditor of Mendocino county at the general election in November.

Charley has received the Democratic nomination at the primaries and is fully entitled to the support of his party. He says he is out to win and his friends are working hard for him. If elected he promises that the duties of the office will be attended to in first class style. He is a rustler and will certainly make things hum in the campaign this fal. Although he has considerable of a Republican majority to overcome he is not at all disheartened and stands a good chance of landing the persimmon.

Marriage Licenses Issued

The following marriage licenses have been issued by Cupid Cornelia White since our last issue: George Kannus and Lydia Typpie; G. E. Ruckstell, of San Francisco, and Eugenia Klipstein, of Bakersfield; Francis Dougherty and Ruby Philbert; I. S. Riggs and Cecille Eva Walker; John Oliver Garvin and Helen Dott Boyd, both of Mendocino; D. D. Downie and Lucy Agnes Palmer, both of Sebastopol. The last-named couple were united in marriage here yesterday evening.

R. E. Donohoe and Maurice Hirsch went over to Fort Bragg in the former's auto Saturday, returning Monday. They went on business of a private nature.

School Superintendent Babcock has been absent this week on a visit to the schools in Potter and Scotts valleies. He is expected back today.

SHALL MENDOCINO BE REPRESENTED

The management of the Watsonville Annual Apple Show have addressed the following letter to the people of Mendocino County through the columns of the Dispatch. The letter speaks for itself. The question is, have any of our fruit growers energy enough and interest enough to get together an exhibit and send it down to the fair. The offer is an exceedingly generous one and is typical of the large hearted boosters of the Pajaro valley. We have boasted that we can raise Gravensteins in Redwood valley that will excell anything that Sebastopol can produce. Here is our chance to make good before the world. As the letter states, a little exhibit will have an equal chance with a big one and that is just the opportunity we have been looking for.

The letter in part is as follows:

Watsonville, Aug. 27—Does your community raise apples? If so, it should be represented at the "Apple Annual" to be held in this city Oct. 10 to 15 both inclusive. It does not make any difference whether your community grows apples in quantity large enough to ship or not; all that will come later on. What is desired is a big display of apples from all over the state. It costs nothing to get it here; the Southern Pacific makes the same arrangement it does on State Fair exhibits, no charge whatever if exhibits are returned to the initial shipping point.

The counties having exhibits are going to reap the benefit of the advertising resulting therefrom. Sebastopol is going to send two carlods. Every community cannot send that many; but every apple-growing community can send a few boxes, or a few plates, and the small exhibit will be given an equal chance with the large one and will stand an equal show of winning prizes, of which there are many, including gold, silver and bronze medals, diplomas, etc.

This display is not for this locality alone; it is designed to benefit the apple industry of the entire state and to bring to the attention of the many apple men, buyers and consumers, who will be here, the marvelous possibilities of this state in respect to the growing of the "King of Fruits."

Write the secretary for space. Immediate action is urged as entries will close September 15 with the exception of plate exhibits, which close October 1st.

Railroad Excursions

The N. W. P. R. R. will run a special excursion train to Santa Rosa this morning on account of Barnum & Bailey's big circus, and a large crowd are availing themselves of the opportunity to take in this big attraction.

On next Friday another excursion will be run to the city to give the people of Ukiah and other points on the line of the N. W. P. an opportunity to take in the Admission Day festivities in San Francisco. The train will leave Ukiah at 5:15 on Friday morning and the return limit is set for Monday, the 19th. In addition to the excursion train, which will be run on Friday only, a special round trip rate will be made from points north of San Rafael beginning Wednesday, the 7th, with the same return limit and at the same rate as the special excursion ticket—$4.70 for the round trip for adults and $2.35 for children.

Concert Sunday

Keller's Band will give a concert next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in front of the courthouse. The band boys have been practising assiduously for the past few weeks and Leader Henry Keller promises a good program. The people of Ukiah have missed their usual weekly concerts this summer and it is to be hoped that before another year passes they may have a place where they may play at any time without any objections being raised.

Warren L. Doolley, son of Judge Dooly of Hopland, came up from Oakland last week where he has been for the past two years. He holds a good position there with a transportation company. He will spend his vacation visiting his friends and relatives in Hopland and in hunting and general recreation.

NEWSY ITEMS FROM WILLITS

Interesting Budget of News From Our Northern Correspondent

Willits, Cal. Aug. 30—The most remarkable happening of the past week was the birth of the 26th child, a son, to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams last week. They have been married 25 years and both are still strong, vigorous and in the prime of life. They have several married children who now have several children each, so the name of Williams will probably not die out for a few years to come. Two times they have had twins. Willits and vicinity is noted for its large families and "race suicide" is tabooed. We have extended an invitation to our distinguised Ex-President, the strenous Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, to come to a place where this crime against nature does not prevail. May the family of Williams continue to live up to the bibical injunctions.

Tuesday afternoon of last week a small fire was discovered in the store house adjoining Tom Cumming's home. The fire was extinguished before it did very much damage.

The Palace saloon was burglarized one night last week and $33.15 and a valuable coin was taken from the cash register. There is no clue to who did the job.

Both the high and grammar school opened yesterday. Thos. McKay of Talmage is the new principal of the grammar school and the lady teachers will be the same as last year. The new principal of the high school is Mr. Blackman, of Truckee. The assistant teachers will be the same as last year. Both schools start with a good enrollment.

Alfred L. White, aged 70 years, was killed near Muir's old mill. He was the head swamper and his death was caused by a back line breaking and striking him while working in the woods. Judge Whitney went out last night and held a coroner's jury. They decided that his death was caused by his own carelessnesss as he had been repeatedly warned to keep away from the line. The deceased was a native of Maine and has no known relatives. He will be buried here tomorrow.

The remains of the late Mrs. Joseph King, who died in San Francisco Saturday, were brought up on the train Sunday and taken to Westport for burial. The deceased was 72 years of age and was well known on the coast.

Over 100 quail were brought up by express Sunday and taken out to the Edgy valley ranch, where they will be liberated and used to stock the ranch.

George Davis returned to Stanford University Sunday.

Dr. G. A. Woolfel is spending a few days in San Francisco.

H. C. Mohn attended the State Funeral Director's Association meeting in San Francisco last week.

Minor Lewis, who has been visiting G. C. Lewis for nearly a year, returned to Kansas yesterday.

POINT ARENA AND VICINITY

A Resume of South Coast News Taken From the "Record"

There seems to be trouble in securing the right of way through the Antrim ranch to the proposed Alder creek bridge. Mrs. Antrim and Supervisor Gillmore agreed on a price and the Supervisors ordered the amount paid to Mrs. Antrim on her signing the deed, but it appears that she has no right to sell part of the estate without an order of the court and that there is an objection on the part of some of the heirs. It is to be hoped that a settlement agreeable to all parties can be consmated, as the proposed new road will be a progressive step and cut out two bad grades on a much-traveled county road.

A. A. Reed, Chas. Pearman, Richard M. Salter and Frank P. Taylor, four San Franicso gentlemen who are camping at Ten Mile on the Garcia river, can be depended upon to boost Point Arena in the future as the sportsman's paradise in fact. They were not long on the ground before a deer was killed and Monday afternoon a large bear fell by the unerring aim of Mr. Pearman. The gentlemen are elated over their success and will have thrillng experiences to relate to their friends when they return to the city.

Miss Minnie Bishop, graduate of the Point Arena union high school, successfully passed the entrance examination of the San Francisco State normal school. A number of applicants from the large high schools failed, showing that students attending our high school receives more thorough education than those who boast of their large enrollment.

Senator and Mrs. J. B. Sanford and son spent a couple of days in town this week. They are touring the county in their automobile, and visited Point Arena for the first time in eight years. Mr. Sanford was renominated by the Democratic party for State Senator.

The Santa Clara News publishes a good picture of Sidney M. Cuthbertson, who has been nominated for Assemblyman from the 57th district. Mr. Cuthbertson is a Manchester boy and the son of our esteemed neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cuthbertson.

Dr. J. R. Nelo is closing up his business here and after visiting relatives and friends at Mendocino will locate in Oakland. The doctor made good in Point Arena and we are sorry he has concluded to leave.

MIDDLE COAST NEWS ITEMS

Items Gleamed From the "Beacon" For Our Coast Readers

For some time Supervisor Brandon has been figuring on bettering the coast road at Russian Gulch by putting in a bridge and cutting down the grade on both sides. At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors a petition, signed by people from this place and other coast towns in the district, asking that the matter be taken up was presented. The petition was acted on favorably and George Lammers, John Flanagan and David Gordon appointed to view out a bridge site and make such corrections in the wagon road as to give an easy grade. The viewers will begin their work tomorrow and very likely their report will be ready for the next meeting of the Board. It is planned to change the road in front of Charley Gray's house so as to reduce the steep hill near there and also to make a change in the north side of Russian Gulch so as to reduce the long hill terminating at A. D. LeBallister's place. These improvements will be welcomed by the traveling public.

An Italian in Boyle's camp met with a peculiar accident Thursday morning. Preparatory to hauling out logs from a certain section, fire had been set to burn out the underbrush. The fire having accomplished its purpose this Italian with several others, was sent out to put out burning logs and to get the fire under control. He climbed up on a fallen tree, one end of which was on fire, and started toward the burning end. The tree proved to be hollow and gave way beneath his feet. As the wood broke through the flames shot up around the man and he probably would have been burned to death in a very few minutes had it not been for a companinon who was with him and went to his rescue and pullied him out. He was brought to town and Dr. Preston dressed his wounds. From here he was taken to the Fort Bragg hospital for further treatment.

Two Italians Emanuel Ballistessa and Pete Beltranni engaged in a fist fight in town Monday, which resulted in the death of one of the parties. It seems that during the encounter Ballistessa drew a knife and cut Beltranni over the right temple. Beltranni was taken to the hospital for treatment, where, upon examination, it was found that the blow had made a fracture of the skull. He died from the effects of the blow Wednesday morning. Ballistessa was arrested by Constable Ollberg and is now awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of murder.

Emory Flood, who was so badly injured in a runaway accident near the Oppenlander place at Comptche, was brought to town Friday evening by Ed Boyle in his auto and taken to the home of his brother, Henry Flood. The injury to his head was not serious, the brain not being affected, and his cuts and bruises are healing rapidly. The broken leg seems to be the only thing standing in the way of his ultimate recovery and it is probable that it will yield to treatment. The leg was badly shattered below the knee, having been broken in two places.

H. McKenzie, who is engaged in building the new bridge across Alder creek, forwarded a life-preserver to this office this week. It was picked up by him at the mouth of Alder creek. It bears the name "Santa Clara" and evidently came from that vessel. It made a long journey—from Eureka to its destination—before coming ashore.

Andrew Abrahamson, a young Russian Finn employed as a brakeman on the Elk Creek railroad, had his hand badly crushed while coupling cars a few days ago. The thumb was amputated and the hand well dressed by Dr. Hicks.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy Rea, of Ukiah, are here this week visiting Dr. Rea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Rea. They came by way of Willits and Fort Bragg and were met at the last-named place by Mr. Rea who brought them down from there in a private conveyance.

A babe but sixteen days old of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who live out at one of the logging camps, was buried Wednesday afternoon at the cemetery at Cuffey's Cove with Mr. Shaw conducting the services.

Chamberlain's Colic, Chlorea and Diarrhoea Remedy is today the best known medicine in use for the relief and cure of bowel complaints. It cures griping, diarrhoea, dysentery, and should be taken at the first unnatural looseness of the bowels. It is equally valuable for children and adults. It always ures. Sold by E. B. Gibson.

Hopland Notes

(From Geyserville Gazette)

On Saturday hop picking began on the big Saaz ranch owned by the Hop & Barley Company Something over six hundred pickers registered for this field and progressed so rapidly the teams could not handle the hops adequately and it became necesasry to call a halt before the noon hour arrived and again before the regular quitting time in the evening. At the present rate of progress the season this year will be a short one.

E. L. Williams is without doubt the busiest man in this section at present. There are five grocery stores to provide provisions in their line, but upon the shoulders of Mr. Williams alone rests the probelm of supplying meat for some eight hundred souls. That he is able to cope with the situation goes without saying. He has a branch shop at the fields and runs a wagon daily to the Largo fields. These with the local shop are supplied with the very choicest of meats, all of which are supplied from his own slaughter pens.

On Friday seventeen four horse teams were in from Lake county, all heavily laden with pears for shipment East in regfrigerator cars. Probably the heaviest shipments from that section in any single day for a long time. The seventeen head of horses taxed to the utmost the capacity of the two local stables.

James B. McCutchen, one of our progressive farmers visited in the metropolis last week and while here purchased a gasoline engine and complete outfit for installing an irrigation plant on his valuable ranch. With such an outfit the possibilities in farming are unlimited.

A four horse team driven by I. N. Hastian while unloading pears at the depot took fright at the approach of the afternoon passenger train and scattered several boxes of pears and their contents over the ground at the station before they were brought to a standstill.

Dr. McLeod of Santa Rosa, who was severely injured in the Northwestern Pacific wreck near Ignacio on the eighth of the month, is a guest at Duncan Springs this week.

Best Meat

Is always found at the City Market. C. P. Smith, the proprietor, has been in the butcher buisness in Ukiah since 1873 and knows the business from the buying of cattle to the cutting of the choicest portions for particular customers. The mere fact that he has been in business for 36 years is in itself a guarantee of the quality of meats he handles and that during all these his customers have received a square deal. Thirty-six years in the buisness also insures that he knows the men who raise choicest steers, the fattest hogs and the best sheep and he has standing contracts with them so that no matter what the weather conditions are or what the market prices may be his customers are insured the best meat at a reasonable price. If you have any doubts as to the value of 36 years experience recall the many butcher shops that have opened in Ukiah during that time and that have gone out of buisness for one cause or other. The only one left today under the same management is Party's Fate on One Vote.

Instances are common enough in elections when a single vote turns the scale, but for that vote to decide not only the fate of a candidate, but of a party as well, is rare. Yet a majority of one in parliament, which may logically depend on a majority of one in the country, has worked some of the most momentous results possible. The classical example is the act of union of 1799, certainly among the largest, most important and most remarkable changes ever accomplished by a legislative body. One hundred and six voted for it and 105 against. Then a majority of one carried the great reform bill in 1832.

Majorities only a little bigger have again and again been responsible for farreaching consequences. A majority of five threw out the Melbourne government in 1839. By the same figure Lord John Russell's government was defeated in 1866. Gladstone went out of office in 1873 because he lacked three votes, and the public education act, one of the most important ever passed, was placed on the statute book by a majority of two.—London Chronicle.

Wild Dogs of Asia.

The whole tribe of wild dogs, which in closely allied forms are to be found in the wildest jungles and woods of Asia, from the Himalayas to Ceylon and from China to the Taurus—unless the "golden wolves" of the Roman empire are now extinct in the forests of Asia Minor—show an individual and corporate courage which entitles them to a high place among the most daring of wild creatures. The "red dogs," to give them their most characteristic name, are neither large in size nor do they assemble in large packs. Those which have been from time to time measured and described seem to average some three feet in length from the nose to the root of the tail. The pack seldom numbers more than nine or ten, yet there is sufficient evidence that they are willing and able to destroy any creature that inhabits the jungle, except the adult elephant and perhaps the rhinoceros, creatures whose great size and leathery hide make them almost invulnerable to such enemies as dogs.—London Spectator.

London's Big Ben.

Why is the large bell in the tower of the house of parliament in London called Big Ben? The average Londoner himself seems to have no idea how it got its name. When the building was designed Sir Benjamin Hall had a great deal to do with carrying out the plans of the architects, being high commissioner of public works, and his coworkers appreciated the fact that to him the city of London was largely indebted. So when the question came up in parliament as to the name of the enormous bell that was to be hung in the tower a member shouted, "Why not call it Big Ben?" This suggestion was received with much applause as well as with roars of laughter, for Sir Benjamin was an enormous man, both in height and girth, and had often been called Big Ben. From that day on the bell whose peal every Londoner knows has been known only as Big Ben.—Harper's Weekly.

Mighty In Titles.

The ruler of Turkey, in addition to the titles sultan and kha-khan (high prince and lord of lords), also claims sovereignty over most districts, towns, cities and states in the orient, specifying each by name and setting out in each of his various titles "all the forts, citadels, purlieus and neighborhood thereof" in regular legal form. His official designation ends, "Sovereign also of diverse nations, states, peoples and races on the face of the earth." All this is in addition to his high position as "head of the faithful" and "supreme lord of all the followers of the prophet," "direct and only lieutenant on earth of Mohammed."

The Great Eastern.

The dimensions of the one time world famous Great Eastern were as follows: Length, 692 feet; width, 83 feet; depth, 60 feet; tonnage, 24,000 tons; draft when unloaded, 20 feet; when loaded, 30 feet. She had paddle wheels fifty-six feet in diameter and was also provided with a four bladed screw propeller of twenty-four feet diameter. She had accommodations for 800 first class, 2,000 second class and 1,200 third class passengers, 4,000 in all. Her speed was about eighteen miles an hour. The Great Eastern was finally broken up for old iron in the year 1889 after a checkered career of some thirty-one years.

Fair, but Stormy.

A gentleman boarded the Karori car at Kelburne avenue. Recognizing a friend on one of the seats, he nodded pleasantly and then said, "Well, what do you think of the weather?"

"Oh, horrible!" was the reply.

"And how is your wife today?"

"She's just about the same, thank you!"—New Zealand Free Lance.

No Ear For Music.

"How do you like the music, Mr. Judkins?" said Miss Parsons.

"I'm sorry, but I have no ear for music," he answered.

"No," put in Mr. Jasper. "He uses his for a pen rack."

An Even Score.

"What is your objection to him, papa?"

"Why, the fellow can't make enough money to support you."

"But neither can you."

TOWN AND COUNTRY JOURNAL

will be run as it has been during the past year, by the same efficient head, Mr. Samuel E. Watson. Mr. Watson is called the best known writer on the Coast for dairy matters and is both painstaking and careful as a writer, always looking not only to the interest but honesty of his statements. We feel that in giving such a head to this department we can not do better for the people who need such work and are sure that the ensuing year will find just as valuable columns under the department of Dairy and Livestock as have always appeared during the past. Mr. Watson will have several good contributions to give variety of experience and theory along his line of work and promises to keep this department right up to the mark. It has been of distinct value to the farmer heretofore and many have written not only seeking its aid but with interest in its contents, as contributers. Mr. Watson is always glad to answer any inquiries in the direction of the dairy livestock of all kinds, or along the line of food stuffs whenever asked to do so and will in any way assist a patron of the paper.

DEPARTMENT OF POULTRY

will be this year under the management of Mr. Russell James, a practical poultry keeper who knows just what to do with poultry in every direction, one who makes a careful and keen study of the suject and will supply us with facts and daily notations of practical work now going on. This will a fine opportunity for a novice to get in touch with a good, energetic, experienced poultry keeper who knows the business thoroughly and makes a specialty of raising and marketing fowls.

We advise all interested in the raising of poultry of any sort to watch the method and take advantage of the excellent advice and wiser head in the matter of such work. Remember you are escaping your own and all of Mr. Russell James blunders of the past as well, when you carefully heed so competent a head in the line of your work. You can't afford to loose a good opportunity to learn from so good an authority when you can get it so easily.

will have a very distinct feature this coming year, far fuller for the wife and family than heretofore. It will carry good fashions from a reliable house with fashion hints and descriptions for each month and will be excellent in detail. In addition the culinary section will be better than ever and will be kept full of good, sensible and tried receipts for the table. There will be a chapter on Household Hints to which any or all may contribute at pleasure and any number of short articles both advisory and interesting for the women of the home.

We fully believe in lightening up a little on hard work and giving something to make the tired man forget a while and the wife remember to be happier. You'll be fresher for the farm, sir, when you take a bit of recreation of an evening and better for the day's drudgery. wife, when you sit down and laugh and cry a little over a good story in the comfort of the lamp-light by the evening table. We are going to run as a serial story that grand writing in the world of ficton, "Two Vanrevels" by the celebrated writer, Booth Tarkington. This should be a real treat for any one young or old, whoever is able to comprehend a story of such depth and value.

will have a separate and full department. We are great believers in the strength of home influences for the little ones and we want to see them bound closer to the hearth stones everywhere. Whenever our boys and girls find interest in anything that is about them in the home so much gain is made for their future. When the boys find pleasure and interest in what comes or goes from the farm, the problem of the farmers of our future is beginning to solve itself. We want these little men and women to enjoy the farm's papers ts doings. When you can make them glad and rejoicing to see it come into the door you've made a direct gain toward better lives ahead. It's an educator and a good healthy one too.

We're going to see that the boys have a column to themselves for games and interesting things for a by to do and stories of fun and adventure. The little folks will have a treat all their own, too, for the California story writer, Mr. Gene B. Lynch will every month this year write just for them a fascinating story that will keep them breathless. Mr. Lynch knows just what the little folks want and he will give them "The Princess of Bonnibeele Castle", "The Witch Fire", "The Elf Horse," and the "Bogies of Ballybocan" and a lot of others as fascinating that will keep them all looking for the Journal.

We want the Journal to go into the children's hands. It's as we said an educator. We want to impress this truth on you. Its reading develops and trains a boy; its good for him.

Notice to Bidders

Office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Mendocino County, California, Aug. 2, 1910.

Sealed bids will be received by the clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Mendocino County, at his office, until 4 o'clock P. M. of Tuesday, Sept. 6th, 1910, for the construction of the balance of the LITTLE LAKE OUTLET and LONG VALLEY ROAD, beginning at station 315, said point of beginning being the west end of the bridge site of bridge No. 7 across the Willits Outlet, thence in a southerly and southeasterly direction to station 547, saving and excepting that portion of the road between stations 428 and 470, station 428 being a point in a northwesterly direction from E. N. Fisher's house and distance 4 chains from same and station 470 being a point at Maxwell camp, at which point we leave the present travelled road. The total distance of new road to be built being 4.75 miles, in third district in Mendocino County. Specifications for the work are on file in the office of the said board, to which bidders are hereby referred.

10 per cent of the amount of bid must accompany the bid and specify the lump sum and not by the rod.

HALE McCOWEN,
Clerk of the board of Supervisors of the County of Mendocino, State of California.

By C. H. White, Deputy Clerk.

Notice to Bidders on Street Work

NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Mendocino, State of California hereby invite and will receive up to 10 o'clock A. M. of August 18, 1910, sealed proposals or bids for grading to the official sub-grade and paving with an asphalt pavement consisting of a concrete base and an asphaltic binder course and an asphalt pavement al that portion of State street in the Town of Ukiah City lying West of the center line of said street and East of the block upon which is situated the County Courthouse excluding every part of the intersections of Standley and Perkins Streets, all in accordance with the plans and specifications therefor adopted by this Board and now on file in the office of the Clerk of said Board.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Each bid shall be accompanied by a certified check payable to the Order of the chairman of the Board for a sum amounting to at least ten per cent of the aggregate of such proposal. The checks of unsuccessful bidders shall be returned immedialy upon the rejection of their bid, the check of the successful bidder shall be returned to him upon the execution by nim of a written contract for doing of said work.

HALE McCOWEN,
County Clek of the County of Mendocino, State of Califonia and ex-officio Clerk of the Board of Supervisos of said County.

By C. H. White, Deputy Clerk.

Not the Real Thing.

"So," said Miss Sharpe, "this is your diamond engagement ring, eh? When Mr. Cheepley gave it to you it must have flattered you."

"Flattered me?" queried Miss Gull.

"Yes. You know they say 'imitation is the sincerest flattery.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Found Wanting.

"Please shake your head, Mr. Pike," said the young lady's small brother.

"All right, Tommy. Now, what did you want me to shake my head for?"

"Pa said you was a rattle brained idiot, but I didn't hear nothin' rattle, did you?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Higher Criticism.

Georgiana was making preparations for her doll's birthday party, and her brother stood by helplessly, receiving instructions. "Oh, Palmer," she exclaimed suddenly, "first we must take this child over to church and have her criticised."—Success Magazine.

Accommodating.

She (her first lesson)—I have been shut up in boarding school so long that I feel very awkward and timid in company. I do not know what to do with my hands.

He—I'll hold them for you.—New York Weekly.

The Alert Man.

"Calmness is a fine trait," said Mr. Billily, "but does it always get there? You take the case of two men standing up in a car holding on to straps, both the same age, but one of them quiet and the other quick, and now let the man they are standing in front of get up to leave the car at a station, and suppose these two men are both at exactly the same distance from the seat, each with the same chance as the other for seizing it, which would get that seat? Would it be the calm, cool man who moved deliberately and always with some thought for others, or would it be the ever alert man, quick to move and always on the lookout, not caring a continental for what anybody thinks and always ready to jump in any seat he can nab? Why, while the calm man is thinking it over about what he shall do and beginning to turn that way the alert man is in the seat. I certainly do admire the calm, tranquil man and his good manners, but it is the man ever on the alert that gets the seat in the car—and other things."—New York Sun.

The Back of a Glove.

The meaning of the three marks on the back of a glove and the clocks on a stocking were two of the little mysteries of dress explained at a lecture on clothes in London. The lecturer said that the three marks on the back of a glove correspond to the fourchette pieces between the fingers, and in olden days these pieces were continued along the back of the hand, braid being used to conceal the seams. A somewhat similar origin was assigned to the ornamental clock on the stocking. In the days when stockings were made of cloth the seams came where the clocks do now, the ornamentation then being used to hide the seams. The useless little bow in the leather band lining a man's hat is a survival of the time when a hat was made by taking a piece of leather, boring two holes through it and drawing it up with a piece of string.

Fashions In Borneo.

According to the rules of Borneoan fashion it is deemed necessary to mold one's limbs into a more shapely form than that bestowed by nature. This is done really effectively by winding strong brass wire round the ankles, the wrists, under the knees and above the elbows of children. Growth at these points is, in consequence, greatly hampered, with the result that the limbs come to be deformed or, according to Dyak ideas, brought into proper shape. The headdress consists of a curious headwork cap, and around his neck a bridegroom to be wears bangles of plaited fiber and strings of cowrie shells. These shells, by the way, as in other parts of the world, are used as currency. A yard of fiber or twenty to thirty cowrie shells represent the value of a penny. The white armlets are made of another species of shells.—Wide World Magazine.

What a Toad Enjoys.

There are few things more amusing than to watch a toad submitting to the operations of a back scratching. He will at first look somewhat suspiciously at the twig which you are advancing toward him, but after two or three passes down his back his manner undergoes a marked change, his eyes close with an expression of infinite rapture, he plants his feet wider apart, and his body swells out to nearly double its ordinary size, as if to obtain by these means more room for enjoyment. Thus he will remain until you make some sudden movement which startles him or until he has had as much petting as he wants, when, with a puff of regretful delight, he will reduce himself to his usual dimensions and hop away, bent once more on the pleasures of the chase.

In Hearing.

They stood upon the crest of the mountain and gazed off through the purple distances.

"Darling," he whispered, bending closer, "give me a kiss—just one!"

"No, Clarence," she answered timidly; "some one will hear us. There may be other ears around."

"Other ears! Why should you think so, dearest?"

"Oh, because I have so often heard of mountaineers I thought perhaps there might be some around, and"—

But just then there was a mighty crash. A mountain goat had heard the awful pun and jumped over the cliff.—London Tatler.

Making Money Two Ways.

Our five cent pieces, of course, are merely tokens, deriving their purchasing power from the fiat of the treasury. The metal blanks for them cost only about 14 cents a hundred. When the expense of stamping the designs upon them is added they come to something like $3,510 a million—that is to say, for this amount the government produces $50,000 worth of nickels, making a clear profit of $46,490 on the transaction.—Saturday Evening Post.

Not Surprised.

Real Estate Agent—I tell you, sir, the death rate in this suburb is lower than in any other part of the county. Near Victim—I believe you. I wouldn't be found dead here myself.—Chicago Journal.

Not Much.

She—Well, I hope you are going to write a letter to the man who insulted you. He (an actor)—What, make him a present of my autograph? Not much.—Pele Mele.

Whatver disgrace we have merited, it is almost always in our power to reestablish our reputation.—La Rochefoucauld.

Mr. and Mrs. Glazier returned home the first of the week from San Diego, whither they had gone in the hopes of bettering Mr. Glazier's health. They found, however that the climate of Ukiah suited him much better than that of the south land, and hence cut short what was to have been an all-winter visit.

COMPILATION OF THE CENSUS

Work Progressiug Fast and Will Probably Be Finished Within Two Months

The work of compiling the thirteenth census will be completed some time during October. The work of the census bureau is enormous. The Washington corrsepondent for the Forth Wort (Texas) Record says: "Some people think that Director Durand practically knows now the exact number of the population, but he declares, 'really and truly,' that he does not. If so disposed, however, he could ascertain approximately the number of people somewhat in advance of his announcment to the public. This could be done by means of the preliminary count of the schedules which is made necessary for the payment of the enumerators for their services. The enumerating district for each supervisor's area are numbered, and it is intended that each of them should contain one hundred names. As soon as these are received they are turned over to counters and a virtually accuate statement is thus made possible. Up to date the names in more than 58,000 of the 70,000 districts have been counted. The process is moving forward rapidly and when it is completed the population of the United States could be easily arrived at by footing up the total. Mr. Durand, however, is not having the figures totalled and he says that it is his purpose not to do so. He is not curious as to the outcome of his work. Nor will he make any prediction as to what the result will show. It is known, however, that the census officials generally fall in with the popular idea that there are about 90,000,000 people in the United States. Between the census of 1890 and that of 1900 there was an increase of about 13,000,000 and only a slightly larger increase would now be necessary to bring the figure up to the ninety million mark. This result is arrived at by a purely arithmetical calculation and not by any compilation of the figures recently taken. About three hundred nimble fingered young men and women are engaged night and day determining the figures which, when the final computation is made, will show the total population. All told there are some 1800 clerks employed in the census office in the compilation of all the facts gathered by the field agents in connection with the recent census; but, while the greatest activity is directed toward the ascertainment of the population, there is still much doing in other directions. Indeed, a large number of those at work in the poplulation division are engaged in classifying the facts relative to the sex, age, race and other condition in connection with the people. Also there are many employed in the manufacturing, agricultural and mining branches. The first announcement, however, will cover only enumeration figures, and these will continue for the next two months and a half. The sociological and industrial figures will come later, and will be announced as a rule in special bulletins prepared by the bureau itself."

All of the enumeration sheets are counted from three to four times, and if there is any error, or even if there is any circumstance indicating a possibility of an error, an investigation is ordered, and if necesasry a correction is made. In two cities evidence of fraud has been discovered, and in one, Great Falls, Mont., a prosecution has been undertaken for fradulent enumeration. Contrary to the general opinion all the counting of the people is done by hand. The tabulating machines, of which several hundred are employed in the office are used only in classification as to race, sex and other conditions. The census office is a busy place. The present force of clerks will be increased eventually to about 2,000. There are two shifts of them, one working from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4:30, the other taking up the work at the latter hour and going forward until 11 o'clock at night. Conuting enumerators, special agents and supervisors, no fewer than 80,000 people will have been employed in the work of the thirteenth census by the time it is completed. So far about $6,000,000 have been expended upon it, and it is probable that the total cost will be about $15,000,000. Of this sum $12,000,000 already has been appropriated by Congress."

H. A. Elmslie, of Orrs, was in town yesterday on important business.

F. M. Crispin, a rancher of the Manchester section, came over from his coast home yesterday.

Mrs. G. M. Miller, wife of a prominent Anderson valley rancher, came over to Ukiah yesterday, accompanied by her son.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kendall came over from Manchester yesterday on business of a legal nature. Mr. Kendall is a well-to-do farmer of that section.

DRIVING CLUB TO HOLD A MATINEE

At a meeting of the Ukiah Driving Club, held at the Palace Hotel, last Monday evening, it was decided to hold a matinee race meeting at the Ukiah track on Saturday afternoon, September 17th. At first September 9th. Admission Day was spoken of but the later date was fixed upon as the most practicable, owing to the fact that it would give more time to get the track in proper shape, and also give more time to work the horses and enable owners to get them into good form.

At this meeting will be horses from this valley and from Potter valley and other parts of the county. Considerable attention in late years has been paid to the breeding of horses and there are some very fast horses in this valley at the present time. This should be a very interesting meeting as the Speed Committee will try and match up the horses as evenly as possible so as to make good sport.

The program for the afternoon will be announced later.

The officers of the Club are Thomas Charlton, President; George Anderson, Secretary, H. B. Smith, Track Superintendent; and H. A. Eldred, Frank Sandelin and F. C. Handy compose the Speed Committee and will act as judges at the meeting.

Good clean racing is promised and the names of the above gentlemen is a guarantee that everything will be decently managed and the public given an interesting afternoon on September 17th.

NOTICE TO HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

The Fall term of the Ukiah High school will open on Monday, Sept. 12. Some time after the opening week entrance examinations will be given to accommodate those who do not hold Mendocino County Grammar school diplomas. Candidates will be examined in Arithmetic, Grammar, Spelling, U. S. History and Composition. The examination in Arithmetic will include both Common and Decimal fractions, also Square and Cube root.

Second, Third, and Fourth year pupils are requested to collect at the high school building on Saturday, Sept. 10, to register and to arrange their course of study for the first half year.

First year pupils will register on Monday morning, and will please to bring the following text books—Well's Algebra, for Secondary Schools; Irving's Alhambra (Pocket Series) and Myer's Ancient History.

Other text books will be announced. Study and recitation will begin the first day.

F. O. Mower, Principal.

White Gives Up Resort

Mrs. T. J. Handley was in town the latter part of last week on her way to her ranch below Orr's Springs. The ranch has been under the management of W. P. White for some time past, he having been conducting it as a summer resort for a San Francisco firm which was to buy it. It is stated on good authority that they have abandoned the plan, and that Mr. White has given the place up and that Mrs. Handley will take charge of it once more.

Death of Mrs. Deyoe

Mrs. Frank Deyoe died at her home in Ukiah last Saturday afternoon. She had been ill for a long time, being afflicted with cancer, and her demise was not entirely unexpected. She leaves a husband and two sons, Alex and Leslie Sankey, to mourn her loss and the sympathy of their friends is extended to them in their sorrow.

The funeral was held from the Christian church Sunday afternoon.

Notice is hereby given that I intend to apply to the State Board of Prison Directors to be parolled from the State Prison at Folsom according to law.

W. E. Perry, Jack Anderson, Geo. Bauer and F. W. Britton, all prominent residents of the Round Valley section, came down from Covelo on business yesterday.

Mrs. Cal. Toney and son left the first of the week for the city, where Elmer has a good positon, and where Mrs. Toney will remain for some time before rejoining her husband in Imperial valley.

Horace Milliken and wife came over from Fort Bragg this week on important business. Mr. Milliken is one of the leading citizens of the coast, being the proprietor of the Fort Bragg water works and being interested in various other enterprises there. He was elected chairman of the Republican County Central Committee at the convention last Saturday.

Team Indulges Itself

A team belonging to J. Levaggi, the vegetable man, indulged in the joyous excitement of running away last Monday morning. They were standing on Clara avenue when they became frightened, and left the wagon to which they were hitched against a telegraph pole on that street. They then pursued their devious way around town at full speed, finally parting company and going their several ways. Both were recovered at the end of their run none the worse for it.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Coli C, holera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by E. B. Gibson.

No Jewish Lullabies.

It is remarkable that, notwithstanding the love and devotion of a Jewish mother, there seems to be no trace of a real Jewish lullaby. Those known are of a recent origin.—American Hebrew.

Order to Show Cause

In the Superior Court of the County of Mendocino, State of California.

In the Matter of the Estate of Stillman E. Whitney, an insane person.

It appearing to this Court by the duly verified petition of William M. Peery, guardian of the estate of Stillman E. Whitney, an insane person, presented and filed herein this day, that it is necessary and also that it would be beneficial to said insane person that the whole of the real estate belonging to said estate should be sold:

It is therefore now ordered by this Court that the next of kin of said insane person and all persons interested in said estate appear before this Court on Monday, the 10th day of October, 1910, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the courtroom of this Court at the Courthouse in Ukiah City, in said County and State, to show cause, if any they have, why an order should not be granted for the sale of the whole of said real estate.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published at least once a week for three consecutive weeks in the Dispatch-Democrat, a newspaper printed and published in the County of Mendocino, State of California.

Dated this 29th day of Aug. 1910.

WOULD MAKE WIVES COOK.

Restriction on Marriages Suggested by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley.

"Before a girl marries I wish that she might have to pass an examination, an examination in domestic science and household economy—in the art of running the home—before she could get her marriage license."

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley of the bureau of chemistry in Washington so expressed himself before a packed audience of women who attended the biennial meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs at Cincinnati the other morning, and his hearers made the big building resound with their applause.

"Do we," said the speaker, "send a man to the United States senate before he has had training and experience in managing the affairs of state? Do we elect a man to the presidency before he has had training in managing a bank? Do we send young women out to preside over an institution more important and more in need of skilled management? To the last question we can, alas, only answer, 'We do.'

"One thing we need in the United States is happiness, and cooking is a more important factor in happiness than the fine arts, for on it depends the nutritive value of foods. And I wish that when you clubwomen have settled all the big affairs of state you would direct your energies to perfecting this art.

"Make your kitchens the attractive places of the homes. Put up your hangings and your works of art out there. Make them the piece de resistance of your homes, and when guests come take them into the wholesome, beautiful, sanitary and artistic kitchen, with the roast beef, the fresh chickens and the green vegetables interspersed among the hangings and the table coverings, instead of conducting these guests into the drawing room, which hasn't been aired for a week."

MRS. HOWE'S NEW PORTRAIT.

Painted by Venerable Author's Son-in-law John Elliott.

When seen recently at her home in Boston, Julia Ward Howe, on the threshold of her ninety-second year, the "grand old woman," famous as the author of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and many books and essays, talked about herself and a portrait of her by her son-in-law, John Elliott.

"This likeness is as I want to be known to my many friends, whom I have not been able to see for some time," she said, "and I want it to be considered official."

An interesting incident of the venerable author's birthday, the hanging of her picture in the New Art museum in Boston by her daughter, Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott, wife of John Elliott, the artist, brought this comment from Mrs. Elliott, who said:

"It is not the picture of Julia Ward Howe, the public woman, but a likeness of my mother. The work was done in the morning, just after we had breakfasted and were in the library."

"Taps."

[Tribute to America's civil war veterans.]

They are marching with a halting step—
A halting step and slow—
And many in those blue clad ranks
Have hair as white as snow;
Their youth lies on the battlefields
Of forty years ago.

The faded, tattered flags they bear,
All torn by shot and shell,
Are sacred emblems of the dead
Who loved their country well.
How great their love and sacrifice
No human tongue may tell.

Those serried ranks are thinning fast
That once with martial tread
The knapsack and the musket bore
Where Grant and Sherman led.
Their sleep is sound and peaceful
In the bivouac of the dead.

No more the revellie at dawn
Shall rouse them from their sleep;
No more shall wives and sisters mourn;
No more shall mothers weep;
Their names upon the roll of fame
Time's hand has graven deep.

And some lie on those hard fought fields
Where now the blue and gray
Clasp hands across the battle lines
Their blood has washed away.
Where once the tide of battle flowed
Their children's children play.

The passing years speed swiftly,
And silence round them wraps,
And to their listening ears there comes
No sweeter song, perhaps,
Than when the battered bugle sounds
Again the old call—"Taps!"

W. S. PALMER, General Manager.
J. J. GEARY, Gen. Pass. Agent.

Puzzled the Packer.

The first organized work of women in a relief corps was led by Florence Nightingale in the Crimean war of 1855. So unaccustomed were people to that service at the time that it called out some curious comment. Writing of "Chinese" Gordon, Dr. Butler tells in his book, "Ten Great and Good Men," how the boys at Cambridge met the call upon them for hospital stores.

One day a letter came suddenly from the war office telling us that any warm clothes for the invalids at Scutari would be prized by Miss Florence Nightingale. At once in every college a committee was extemporized of leading undergraduates, charged to collect presents of flannel jackets, trousers, "blazers," rugs, greatcoats, furs, even sealskins.

In a few hours box after box was filled with these treasures, and all the boxes were kindly and gratuitously packed for us by the leading upholsterer of the town, his foreman simply remarking to me in a tone which General Gordon would have enjoyed:

"A nice consignment for a lady, sir."

Cause of Twilight.

Twilight is a phenomenon caused by atmospheric refraction. When the sun gets below the horizon we are not immediately plunged into the darkness of night. Although the sun is below our horizon, rays of solar light are bent or refracted by the terrestrial atmosphere and continue to furnish some slight illumination. The process continues with diminishing intensity until the sun is so far below the horizon that the refracting power of the atmosphere is no longer able to bend the rays enough to produce a visible effect. The time after sunset that the sun reaches such a position varies with the latitude of the place. There is less twilight at the tropic zone than at the temperate or frigid zone. This is due to less time taken by the sun's rays to pass through the atmosphere, at the tropic zone the sun's rays being perpendicular and at the temperate and frigid zones oblique.—New York American.

With a Grain of Salt.

The earliest record of the saying "with a grain of salt" dates back to the year 63 B. C., when the great Pompey entered the palace of Mithridates and discovered among his private papers the description of an antidote against poisons of all sorts, which was composed of pounded herbs. These, according to the recipe, were to be taken with a grain of salt. Whether this was meant seriously or as a warning sarcasm is not known, but thenceforth it became the custom to say that doubtful preparations should be taken with a grain of salt. From this the meaning got transferred to sayings of doubtful truth. "Attic salt" was a Greek synonym for wit or penetration, and the Latin word "sal" had somewhat of the same meaning. It is thus easy to see how the saying "cum grano salis" could have come to mean the necessity of accepting doubtful or suspicious statements "with a grain of salt."

Molokai and the Lepers.

The general idea of the leper settlement on the island of Molokai is wrong, says a writer in Harpers Weekly. Instead of the entire island being used for the leper colony the settlement comprises only eight square miles out of a total area of 261 square miles. It occupies a tongue of land on the northern side of Molokai. The north, east and west shores of this tiny spit are washed by the Pacific, while on the south side rise precipitous cliffs of from 1,800 to 4,000 feet, which make the isolation seem even more hopeless than the beautiful deep blue waters of the sea ever could. The most difficult and dangerous trail, constantly manned by government guards, foils escape, if it were ever contemplated, by the land side.

Stupid Husband of a Noted Singer.

Catalani's husband, a handsome Frenchman, was even more unintellectual than his wife—he was stupid. Once, having found the pitch of the piano too high, she said after the rehearsal to her husband: "The piano is too high. Will you see that it is made lower before the concert?" When the evening came Catalani was annoyed to find that the piano had not been altered. Her husband sent for the carpenter, who declared that he had sawed off two inches from each leg, as he had been ordered to do. "Surely it can't be too high now, my dear," said the stupid husband soothingly.

Through the Cracks.

When the celebrated divine Edward Irving was on a preaching tour in Scotland two Dumfries men of decided opinions went to hear him. When they left the hall one said to the other:

"Well, Willie, what do you think?"

"Oh," said the other contemptuously, "the man's cracked!"

The first speaker laid a quiet hand on his shoulder.

"Willie," said he, "you'll often see a light peeping through a crack."

A Poor Player.

Griggs—So you got home from the club at midnight. Well, I suppose you told wife you had to work late at the office. Played upon her sympathies, eh? Briggs—Well—er—yes, but either her sympathies were out of tune or I'm a darned poor instrumentalist.—Boston Transcript.

A liniment may relieve, but can't cure.

Backache comes from the inside—from the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills get inside—They cure sick kidneys.

Here is Ukiah proof that this is so: Mrs. Alexander S. Bailey, 1136 W. Perkins Street, Ukiah, Cal. says: "I have received great benefit from Doan' Kidney Pills and I do not hesitate to make the fact known. My back and kidneys troubled me for a long time. I often had sharp pains in my loins and sides and my back ached almost constantly. My kidneys were weak and caused no end of annoyance. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, I could see a decided improvement and by the time I had finished the contenst of the second box, I was free from kidney compalint. Another member of my household has also taken Doan's Kidney Pills and received great benefit."

THE BARGAIN CHASE.

American Women and the Shopping Game Mania.

More money is wasted every year by women buying needless things under the excitement of the bargain hunt than is spent in all the gambling houses and race tracks put together, says Mary Heaton Vorse in Success Magazine. When you say that I have no statistics to prove this I answer that I have common sense and have spent much time in city shops. I know, too, what I am capable of, and I am but a half hearted hunter. I know what my friends do. It isn't for nothing that I have seen earnest young students of economics succumb to this hunting instinct and fare forth to buy ninety-eight cent undergarments.

It is not only in the stores frequented by poor or uneducated women that I have seen the more brutal instincts of the human race come to the surface. I have seen a charming looking elderly woman in a high class store snatch a dress length of gray voile from the hands of another elderly woman, and the reason I happened to see these sights was because I myself was at the sale looking at garments I didn't want and didn't need and buying them.

The bargain chase, the shopping game passion or sport, life work or recreation—for it may be any one of these, according to the temperament of the woman—has American women well in its grip. Hardly one of us escapes some one of the psychological deviations from the normal which I have mentioned.

READ HIS FACE.

The Youthful Amateurs Were Sure He Was a Philanthropist.

They were youthful enthusiasts in physiognomy. On the seat opposite in the train was a man of commanding figure, massive brow and serious expression. "Splendid face!" one of them explained. "What do you suppose his life work has been?"

"A lawyer?" suggested the other.

"No-o; there's too much benevolence in that face for a lawyer."

"Maybe a banker?"

"Oh, no! A man with an expression like that couldn't have spent his life in merely turning over money."

"He might be an editor."

"An editor! Cutting and slashing his enemies at every turn and even his friends occasionally for the sake of a smart paragraph? You can't read faces. That man's a philanthropist or engaged in some sort of public spirited work. Why, there isn't a line that doesn't indicate strength of purpose and nobility! Look at that curve there on the left!"

At the next station an old countryman took his seat beside the man with massive brow and soon entered into a conversation with him, in the course of which he asked the latter "what was his line."

The two opposite held their breath in the intensity of their interest.

"Oh, I've got a little tavern and butcher shop back in the country a bit!" was the proud reply. "My wife tends to the meals and I do my own killing."—Youth's Companion.

Picture Forgeries.

There are three or four times as many Corots in existence as the French painter produced in his lifetime. He lived to be nearly eighty, but at Montmartre his posthumous canvases are still being turned out to meet the demands of the market. The old masters never die. They are still working overtime in the back rooms of Florence and Rome. At Cologne the manufacture of genuine mediaeval metal work and antique carving is a thriving industry. These foreign forgers may be scamps, but their tireless energy also testifies to the reverence in which posterity holds the great names of bygone periods. If they are not so highly prized, what inducements would there be for anybody to waste time, paint and muscle in creating fraudulent copies and imitations and passing them off under false pretenses? Our millionaire collectors are not constantly exposed to the risk of buying high priced forgeries where the originals have no value.—New York World.

The Light of the Stars.

Various endeavors have been made to estimate the light of the stars. In the northern hemisphere Argelander has registered 324,000 stars down to the nine and a half magnitude, and with the aid of the best photometric data Agnes M. Clerk's "System of the Stars" gives the sum of the light of these northern stars as equivalent to 1-440 of full moonlight, while the total light of all stars similarly enumerated in both hemispheres, to the number of about 1,000,000, is roughly placed at 1-136 of the lunar brightness. The scattered light of still fainter celestial bodies is difficult to compute. By a photographic method Sir William Abney rated the total starlight of both hemispheres at 1-109 of full moonlight, and Professor Newcomb from visual observations of all stars at just 728 times that of Capella, or 1-89 of the light of the full moon.

It is not certain, however, that the sky would be totally dark if all stars were blotted out. Certain processes make the upper atmosphere strongly luminous at times, and we cannot be sure that this light would be totally absent.—Harper's Weekly.

A Dutch Fishing Fleet.

If the traveler wants to get a real glimpse of picturesque Holland, a glimpse which shall long be a happy memory, let him journey to the old fishing village of Scheveningen, not far from The Hague. Its fishing fleet is an imposing one and is best seen at night, when the boats are drawn up on the beach. Each has a number, and these are painted on the sides in such large figures that they can be read at a considerable distance. At night when the fishermen begin to come to land the women of the village walk down to the beach with their knitting in their hands to meet them. They wear their wooden shoes, some of which are made to look especially clean by an application of whiting, and they make a merry clatter as they go. Industry is characteristic of the women of Holland in all walks of life. They must always be at work of some kind, and it would seem as if more knitting needles must be used in Holland than in any other country in the world.—E. J. Farrington in Interior.

Mourning In Japan.

The Japanese code of mourning is very elaborate and complicated. As followed by the well to do classes it involves the wearing of special garments and abstinence from animal food. At the death of a husband or real or adopted parents the custom demands thirteen months of mourning apparel and fifty days' abstinence from meat. Grandparents are honored by 150 days if they are on the paternal side; if only common, insignificant, maternal grandparents, they have to put up with ninety. The same rule applies to maternal uncles and aunts. It is one way of introducing the oriental contempt for women.

THE TELESCOPE.

Galilei's Rude Instrument the First Used In Astronomy.

The first telescope was pointed toward the sky on Jan. 7, 1610, when Galilei first tried his rude instrument and was rewarded by discovering some of the moons of Jupiter. No great magnifying power was needed for this, as at least one of the moons is large enough to be seen by the naked eye did not the nearness of the brilliant planet prevent this. Lenses had been known for a long time and were at that time in common use by near-sighted persons.

The name of the real discoverer of the telescope seems to be unknown, but the accepted story now is that two young sons of a Middebury optician named Lippersley some time between 1605 and 1608, while playing with some lenses, happened to hold two of them at a distance from each other and were surprised and delighted to find that the weather vane on a neighboring tower seemed to come near them when looked at through the two lenses. In April, 1609, a little telescope made in Holland was offered for sale in Paris.

The next month Galilei, then a professor in the university at Padua, heard of this instrument and realized at once its importance in the study of astronomy. From the description of the Dutch instrument he had one made at once, and in August he astounded the people of Venice by showing them from the top of the campanile persons entering the doors of the church at Murano. This spyglass was less than two inches in diameter and magnified three times. From this crude instrument of Galilei to the monster telescopes forty inches in diameter of the present day is the development of only three centuries.—Argonaut.

Couldn't Forget It.

"Saturday night some miscreant lug got off a whole cord of my wood, and somehow I can't forget about it," declared Silas.

"Have you tried to forget it?" inquired his friend.

"Yes. Sunday morning I went to church, hoping I could get it off my mind, and before I had been there five minutes the choir started in singing 'The Lost Chord,' so I got out."—Judge.

Reckless Gambling.

Theodore Bell True Blue

The Sacramento Bee, insurgent Republican, the only large daily in northern California politically clean, contained the following editorial in its issue of Tuesday, August 23rd, concerning Theodore Bell. Coming from such a source the tribute is a magnificent one. It goes to show that those of opposite political faith whose opinion is worth while recognize Bell's worth and incorruptible integrity and honor him for it. Bell did not wait until the movement to oust the Southern Pacific from California politics, became popular before beginning the fight. Ever since his entry into public life he has fought corruption with all his might, and shall the people of California now forsake the man who was the fisrt to take up arms in their behalf? His principles as stated in the Bee editorial are the same as he has always enunciated them, and he has always been and always will be found true to them.

The Bee says: "Already the voice of the political guesser is abroad in the land. And he has guessed that the Southern Pacific and allied interests will flirt with Theodore A. Bell to see what can be done with him as a gubernatorial candidate.

Also the same political guesser has put it forth in whispers that the corporations this time will be back of Bell, and that he may become the "safe, sane and conservative" candidate.

It takes two to make a flirtation, however, and The Bee does not believe Theodore A. Bell will become a party to any such compromise with his conscience.

It thinks it knows the man well enough to prophesy that he will stand as firmly by his guns in this campaign from first to last, as he did in the campaign four years ago.

He cannot afford in honor to do any less.

And Theodore A. Bell has been always a man of honor.

It will not be amiss right here to revert to some of the utterances made by Theodore A. Bell in his wonderful campaign of four years ago. Only a very few are selected at random, but his speeches were studded with similar ones.

In his remarks at Vallejo on September 24, 1906, the very opening of the campaign, Bell said:

The Santa Cruz Convention was absolutely controlled by the railroad bosses. The fitness of candidates even for high places in the Judiciary received no consideration, and office after office was put upon the block and auctioned off to the highest bidder with the sole end in view of nominating a Governor satisfactory to the Southern Pacific interests in Califonia.

I believe this election will mark the end of railroad misrule and abuse in this State. But if The People will vote to perpetuate the despotism of the Southern Pacific and thereby declare that Mr. Harriman, by a nod of his head at a Washington banquet, can indicate the next Governor of this State, then let none complain of the yoke he has voluntarily assumed.

At San Jose on the night of October 23, 1906, Bell declared:

I am not here to say the railroad companies have no right to take part in political affairs. They have the same right as any citizen. But we do complain of an undue usurpation. We believe the Government should be for the interests of all people, and not for any special class.

We have allowed the railroad company to encroach upon the rights of the People of the State a little at a time, until it has become so brazen that this year it openly names the entire State ticket and tries to usurp the State Government.

At Davisville on October 26, 1906, Bell used this language:

I say to the Railroad Company that if I am elected Governor the fight for better conditions in California has only just begun.

This election is only the first skirmish. After the 6th of November the real battle will begin and it will be waged fiercely until the politics of California is freed from the Southern Pacific Company, the vampire that has sucked the life blood of the State for nearly forty years.

The following is from Bell's speech at the rousing meeting held in the New Pavilion in Sacramento on the night of November 1, 1906:

We do not object to the Southern Pacific Company, so long as it keeps in its proper sphere of action. Railroads are not incorporated for political purposes; they are incorporated for railroad purposes, and ought to pursue the objects of their creation.

Whenever they attempt through political machinations to become greater than the power that created them, then is the time for The People of the State, if not by ballot, by the laws of the State, to compel them to return to those objects for which they were created.

That was the language of Theodore A. Bell in the memorable campaign of four years ago—a campaign in which he swept this section of California, receiving in Sacramento county alone a majority of 3,729 over James N. Gillett.

The Bee believes that Theodore A. Bell will conduct the present campaign along the same lines as that of four years ago—that he will not falter, that he will not flirt—no matter what the tempation.

LATER—Since the above was written this morning, the Editor of The Bee received through the mails a friendly personal letter from Theodore A. Bell dated at Denver on August 20th.

The Editor sees no reason why, under the circumstances, one extract from that letter should not be given to the public. He has not seen or even heard from Bell for sometime prior to the close of the Hiram Johnson crusade; nor even had he written to Bell to ask him what his plan of campaign might be. So the letter received today comes as a voluntary statement from the candidate—a statement that corroborates what has been written above.

In that letter, Theodore A. Bell bears testimony to the high admiration in which he holds Hiram W. Johnson, and shows that in himself there will be no wavering.

The following extract should put an end to the present gossip.

I am writing you to say that I read and then re-read your editorial in last Wednesday's Bee, and I heartily appreciate the fine tribute you paid me. You are certainly to be congratulated on the results of your magnificent fight for Johnson and Kent. Their cause was worthy the best you could give them.

It is hardly necessary for me to repeat that I shall do nothing, nor permit anything to be done, that will in the slightest degree tie my hands or prevent my being a full moral agent after taking the office—if I should chance to be elected.

I am so confirmed in the conviction that no office in the world is worth the compromise of a principle, that it is not difficult for me to hew straight to the line. I shall not promise a special privilege to any living man, association or corporation, for I do not propose to grant one if elected.

I do not propose to saddle on my conscience the thing that has cursed our State in the past, is now cursing the Nation, and has been the one great cancer that has eaten out the hearts of the Nations and the peoples of history.

If I can win in that way, all right and good. Otherwise, I shall cheerfully accept defeat again.

This course no matter how it ends, will preserve my peace of mind, and I prize that above all else.

Now, that is a personal statement to a personal friend. It was never intended for publication. It is the frank and straightforward averment of a straightforward and honest man.

Under the circumstances, the Editor of The Bee has taken upon himself the liberty and the responsibility of giving it publicity.

As this paper said a few days ago: 'The situation is delightful."

I. G. Zumwalt of Colusa, who is the regular Democratic nominee for Conrgess from this district, is in Willows today lining up the Democratic voters in his interest. He is meeting with much encouragement, and will, without doubt, poll the full Democratic strength of this district and much more. There are many Republicans who are not Kent and Lincoln-Roosevelt crazy, and who will cast their votes for a good clean Democrat, even if he is not a money-bag, and this class will far outnumber the few so-called Democrats who will support Kent. This paper wants to see the district ably represented in Congress, and we believe Zumwalt to be the man to do it.—Glenn Transcript.

—o—o—

The Democrats of California would willingly accept on behalf of Mr. Bell Franklin Hichborn's proposition that the Republican and Democratic candidates stump the State together in joint debate if for no other reason than to hear the answer to Mr. Bell's inevitable question of why Mr. Johnson was not opposing the railroad four years ago then the situation was far more acute than now and when the railroad question was one of public poilcy and not the excuse for a political vendetta. Mr. Johnson is merely stealing another man's thunder and the people know it. Whether the offer is accepted or not Mr. Bell will be heard on this subject before the campaign closes.

—o—o—

Theodore Bell's proposition to name men in commissions and boards of control solely because of their fitness and humanity and regardless of political affiliations, if he is elected, indicates that he is not seeking to build up a personal machine but to give the State the best possible government. He is not seeking to use the patronage of the office as a cudgel to club an opposing faction of his own party into submission.

UKIAH 25 AND 15 YEARS AGO

What Was Going on in This Community a Quarter of a Century Ago

Last Monday morning at 6 o'clock Mrs. J. K. Chambers died at Covelo after an illness of nearly two months duration.

The 3rd annual fair of the 12th District Agricultural Association opened at Willits last Monday with a good attendance and an ample display of exhibits.

The hop growers of Little Lake valley will not pick their hops this year, owing to the low prices.

While camping out on the night of Aug. 22nd Clarence White and John Rohrbough complained of each others cold feet. Clarence reached for John's feet and grabbed a rattlesnake. He is carrying his hand in a sling.

J. H. Burke gave an impromptu social dance last Saturday night in the cooling room of his hop house.

County Treasurer Fowzer reports a balance on hand for the month ending August 31 of $27,106.65.

On the 23rd of Sept. the Ukiah Park Association will hold its Fall meeting. There will be a stock exhibition in addition to the races.

Messrs Carothers and Wheeler have established a law firm of that name here.

W. R. Lane, of Oregon, father of John C. Lane, is visiting his son at Manchester, where the latter is proprietor of the hotel. W. R. is an old pioneer of that section having settled there 27 years ago.

Born—at Cottoneva, Aug. 23, 1885, to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Devilbiss, a daughter.

Married—In Ukiah Sept. 2, 1815, Horatio D. Patton, of Willits and Rosa Marsh of Ukiah; at Point Arena, Aug. 28th, Abner S. Bowen and Miss Laura Hutton.

Things Occurring in Ukiah Fifteen Years Ago

The murderer of Wm. Williams a noted character of Round vallley has not yet been found. Tom Potter was arrested but was let go on account of insufficiency of evidence. The murder was committed the night of the 20th of August.

A party consisting of W. P. Thomas, Dr. Case, Emmett Donohoe, J. E. Pemberton and several others left last Saturday for a week's hunt on Eel river.

Dr. Wyckoff's family, consisting of his wife, two sons and a daughter, have joined him here, arriving from their old home in Calistoga the past week.

Bark peeling has about closed down in the Anderson valley section but hauling is brisk. Reese Clow is moving a large quantity to Greenwood.

Large sales of beef cattle still continue in this county. The ranges will soon be depleted and the stockmen are looking around for stock cattle with which to replenish their herds.

Mrs. Parmelia Mast, of Willits, died Wednesday after an illness of several weeks. She was a pioneer resident of Little Lake valley.

The complaint filed by Ditsriict Attorney Sturtevant in the case against County Treasurer Ford to recover $3000 alleged to have been paid him by the tax collector but unaccounted for has been found to be defectve and will result in delaying the trial of the case for a month.

Mrs. Elizabeth Doty died at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Barnes Wednesday of last week. She was 88 years of age.

At the Theatres

The past week has been a busy one at the various theatres. At the Victory moving picture show the new film srevice still continues and the house is crowded nightly. Manager Winnie Cox is putting on a good show. Last night "The Man From Alaska" gave his illustrated lecture to a large audience.

The Beeson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troup showed here Saturday night to a large crowd. It is said they broke up at Petaluma since.

The Norbert Cills troupe showed at Cleland's hall, presenting "The Wolf" last Wednesday evening. They gave an excellent performance but on account of poor work by their advance agent had a poor house.

Monday night the Gormand & Ford Company will begin a week stand here at Cleland's hall featuring Miss Mildred Ford that evening in the four-act comedy drama, "Wedded but no Wife." This troupe has recently finished a six weeks' stand at Eureka and is well spoken of by the Eureka papers. They are 16 in number and carry their own orchestra of five pieces. They are strong on specialties and give one or more after every act. Their success in Eureka and in the cities to the south bespeak them a good patronage here.

May Have Escaped

Coroner Taylor received a letter the past week from the office of the United States Marshall at San Francisico giving a description of F. E. Wood, who with a partner attempted to hold up the steamer Beckman last week while off the Umpqua river.

After killing the captain Wood jumped overboard, and as he had on a life preserver it is thought he may have escaped to shore 7 miles distant. If he was drowned it is supposed that his body will wash ashore somewhere on the Mendocino coast and officers and citizens generally are asked to keep a lookout for the man or his body. He is described as being 29 years of age; height 5 feet 10; weight about 145 pounds; eyes blue; hair light brown; complexion, ruddy; scar on right eyebrow.

List Growing Fast

During the past few months the Dispatch's subscription list has been steadily growing owing to the untiring efforts of our canvasser, J. D. Bennett. He has added over 800 subscribers since taking the road some three months ago, which brings our ilst up to within a few dozen of 2500. In the hurry of adding these to our books some may have been over looked and if so we would thank anyone to aprise us if he has subscribed and fails to get the paper. We do our best to take care of the names as fast as they come in and ask your indulgence if mistakes are made.

Status of Auto Mail Route

Although but little progress has as yet been made in the matter of establishing an overland automobile mail route between Holmes Camp and Sherwood, according to Postmaster Selvage, it is possible that the service will be brought about this fall.

Postmaster Selvage feels certain that the auto mail route will be established next spring, and if the department at Washington hastens its deliberations there is a prospect that Eureka may yet this year enjoy the benefits of letter mail overland by fast auto.—Eureka Herald.

Parker Buys Interest of Partner

Last Thursday Freeman Parker bought out the interest of Frank Bechtol in the cigar stand hitherto conducted by Parker & Bechtol and is now sole proprietor of the business. The stand is a good one and Mr. Parker is to be congratulated on having at last obtained the whole interest. Frank has returned to his business of painter.

Miss C. C. Herrick, of the Butterick Publishing Company, of New York, is now at the City of Ukiah. She invites the ladies of Ukiah and vicinity to meet her there and she will prove to them why Butterick Patterns and fashions are better than others.

On motion of E. P. Gillmore an order was made adopting Plans & Specifications for building a bridge across Getchell Gulch.

Motion also made to advertise for bids to build said bridge, bids to be opened at 11 o'clock Monday September 19, 1910.

The Board then adjourned to meet at 10 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, Sept. 6. 1910.

We hereby wish to annouce that we will send one of our expert piano tuners and builders to Ukiah and vicinity about Sept. 12th.

This trip will be made regularly every six months, and we will be prepared to do all kinds of piano work from rebuilding down.

We employ none but the most skilled workmen and guarantee all work done by our men.

Pianos cared for by the year. We have at present about fifteen pianos in Ukiah.

In order to avoid false representatives, leave all orders with

A LESSON THAT FAILED.

Don't Go Too Far When Asking a Father For His Girl.

"I don't suppose," the timid young man said as he tremblingly approached her father, "that you will be inclined to grant the request I have to make, Mr. Boodleson, but"—

"Stop!" the millionaire commanded. "I know what you're here for. My daughter told me this morning that you would call on me today. She made a strong plea for you, and I promised her that I'd listen to you patiently, but you have just about convinced me that you're not the kind of chap I want for a son-in-law."

"Wh-why, what have I done—what have I said to c-cause you to fe-feel that way?"

"I'll tell you. You came in here saying you didn't expect me to consent to let you have my daughter. That's no way to begin. If you expect to get along in the world you'll have to get over that way of approaching people. You should have come to me with a feeling of confidence in your breast and with words on your lips that would have indicated that you didn't doubt for a moment that you'd carry your point. Why, when I asked my wife's father for her I went up to him with all the confidence in the world, slapped him on the back and let him understand that I hadn't a doubt of my ability to win his consent."

"All right, old man. Seeing that there's no reason why Genevieve and I shouldn't get married, you'll of course give your consent, and remember that I expect you to do something handsome in the way of handing out a check as a wedding present. No bluff, you understand—no $10,000 check that is to be torn up after the guests leave or"—

Five minutes later the young man woke up on the sidewalk and began wondering how one was to be able to tell how to go far enough without going too far.—Chicago Record-Herald.

And a Bargain at That.

A little boy had got into the habit of saying "darn," of which his mother naturally did not approve.

"Dear," she said to the little boy, "here is 10 cents. It is yours if you will promise me not to say 'darn' again."

"All right, mother," he said as he took the money; "I promise."

As he lovingly fingered the money a hopeful look came into his eyes and he said, "Say, mother, I know a word that's worth 50 cents."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Intensive Cultivation.

"Intensive cultivation," so called, has reached its highest state of perfection in the market gardens lying about Paris, where land rent runs to $250 an acre or more a year and four crops are taken from the soil between February and November, and on the island of Guernsey, in the English channel, where farming land is valued at $1,200 an acre—two instances that move all writers upon agricultural topics to wondering awe—and yet in the near vicinity of Boston gardeners growing lettuce, radishes and cucumbers under glass are clearing $3,000 to $4,000 an acre a year without attracting more than passing notice.—National Magazine.
